

INTERPRETING SCORES ON PUPPY TESTING

- * MOSTLY 1'S - A puppy that consistently scores ones in the temperament section of the test is an extremely dominant puppy who can easily be provoked to bite. His dominant nature will attempt to resist human leadership, thus requiring only the most experienced of handlers. This puppy is a poor choice for most individuals and will do best in a working situation.
- * MOSTLY 2's - This puppy is dominant and self assured. He can be provoked to bite; however he readily accepts human leadership that is firm, consistent & knowledgeable. This is not a dog for a tentative, indecisive individual. In the right hands, he has the potential to be a fine working or show dog and could fit into an adult household, provided the owners know what they are doing.
- * MOSTLY 3's - This puppy is outgoing and friendly and will adjust well in situations in which he receives regular training and exercise. He has a flexible temperament that adapts well to different types of environment, provided he is handled correctly. May be too much dog for a family with small children or an elderly couple who are sedentary.
- * MOSTLY 4's - A puppy that scores a majority of 4's is an easily controlled, adaptable puppy whose submissive nature will make him continually look to his master for leadership. This puppy is easy to train, reliable with kids, and though he lacks self-confidence, makes a high quality family pet. He is usually less outgoing than a pup scoring in the 3's, but his demeanor is gentle and affectionate.
- * MOSTLY 5's - This is a puppy who is extremely submissive and lacking in self confidence. He bonds very closely with his owner and requires regular companionship and encouragement to bring him out of himself. If handled incorrectly this puppy will grow up to be very shy and fearful. For this reason, he will do best in a predictable, structured lifestyle with owners who are patient and not overly demanding, such as an elderly couple.
- * MOSTLY 6's - A puppy that scores 6 consistently is independent and uninterested in people. He will mature into a dog who is not demonstrably affectionate and who has a low need for human companionship. In general, it is rare to see a properly socialized puppy test this way, however there are several breeds that have been bred for specific tasks (such as basenji's, hounds, & some northern breeds) which can exhibit this level of independence. To perform as intended, these dogs require a singularity of purpose that is not compromised by strong attachments to their owner.

The remainder of the puppy test is an evaluation of obedience aptitude & working ability and provides a general picture of the pup's intelligence, spirit, and willingness to work with a human being. For most owners a good companion dog will score in the 3 to 4 range in this section of the test. Puppies scoring a combination of 1's and 2's require experienced handlers who will be able to draw the best aspects of their potential from them.
